Topics Discussed:

As we didn't have school today we decided to meet in a calm place where we could discuss and work about our project. So we started to work on Activity diagrams especially for User Management View Products Management View and the Sale Activity Diagram. After we continued with the State diagrams for the Tabs, Products and User. We worked on the site that our professor gave to us draw.io and for each diagram we stored a png and xml and then uploaded them on github. These tasks were done by all us so we were exchanging our thoughts during the drawing of diagrams which helped us on learning the main idea how to work with the diagrams we were working on. We also discussed about the programming part as we were getting too many bugs while using Visual Studio so we had to recheck again the programming part with Visual Studio in order to start as soon as possible with the programming part because we had to start it again from the beginning. The other part seems fine until now so we are going to distribute other tasks to each member of the team for the next week.
